

We are looking for students in the information technology or engineering field with enthusiastic problem solving skills as well as good communicative networking. Here you can challenge your quick-thinking and enjoy a dynamic and young work environment

Your tasks

- During your assignment, you will analyze Big Data with modern tools.
- The handling and coordination of samples as well as the independent preparation and execution of trials and experiments fall within your area of responsibility.
- You will also process data, evaluate it and summarize the results.
- Last but not least, you will present this in front of interdisciplinary and international audience.

Apply on <https://www.bosch-sensortec.com/careers/>